

Doctoral School in Sciences, Technology, Health

The Doctoral School of Science and Health groups together 7 DEA courses, 16 research units, that is 230 students (DEA and PhD) and ensures a flow of around 30 theses per year. The school's concern, via courses and research, is to allow each student to develop his own personal and professional project beyond a career in research. Thus it offers a valid 'Training Contract' founded on thorough knowledge in a specific field and also opens up possibilities in the socio-economic environment. Accompanying students goes through the 'Thesis Charter' governing the rights and duties of the PhD students and their thesis reader.
